

Normandy transfers ride for free to Francis Howell

Normandy transfer students are once again getting a free ride to Francis Howell schools.

Aja J. Williams, KSDK*6:15 p.m. CDT August 26, 2014*

NORMANDY, Mo. - Normandy transfer students are once again getting a free ride to Francis Howell schools.

In June, Francis Howell announced it wouldn't accept transfer students from the Normandy Schools Collaborative this school year, which led to a lawsuit.

Monday night, Normandy agreed to provide transportation to the 19 transfer students allowed to return to Francis Howell under injunctions issued by the court.

Last year, students in Normandy School District, which was unaccredited, were allowed to transfer to nearby accredited schools under state law. As of June 30, the Normandy School District dissolved, and the Normandy Schools Collaborative formed July 1. Attorneys say more Normandy students could return to Francis Howell in the coming weeks.

Read or Share this story: <http://on.ksdk.com/1tHmq7s>

MORE STORIES

America's most and least educated states
(/story/news/nation-now/2014/09/25/americas-most-and-least-educated-states/16220915/)
Sept. 25, 2014, 3:28 p.m.

educated-states/16220915/)

Dashcam video shows ex-trooper shooting unarmed man

(/story/news/nation-now/2014/09/25/ex-sc-trooper-who-shot-unarmed-man-faces-charges/16210437/)
(/story/news/nation-now/2014/09/25/ex-sc-trooper-who-shot-unarmed-man-faces-charges/16210437/)
Sept. 25, 2014, 12:21 p.m.

Map: View Islamic State strongholds
(/story/news/nation-now/2014/09/24/map-view-islamic-state-strongholds/16170387/)
Sept. 24, 2014, 4:06 p.m.

state-strongholds/16170387/)

Clooney, Alamuqaddar get

(/story/life/people/2014/09/29/clooney-amalmuqaddar-civil-ceremony/16417039/)

married...again!
(/story/life/people/2014/09/29/clooney-amalmuqaddar-civil-ceremony/16417039/)
Sept. 29, 2014, 8:09 a.m.