MARYLAND HEIGHTS, MO (KPLR) – January 25-31, 2015 is National School Choice Week, an opportunity to raise awareness about various programs available as alternatives to public schools. School Choice gives parents the right to send their children to any school they want – public or private – and use public money to do it.

School Choice is a hot button issue that has captured the attention of lawmakers from the federal to local level and will likely be a topic of debate during the 2016 presidential election season. To learn more about the issue and how it impacts you and your family, join host Shirley Washington for The Pulse of St. Louis, Saturday night at seven on KPLR News 11.
